Overview

Unit 1 – Overview

- Rule Types
- Displaying Rules
  - Linked to a Specific Section
  - Linked to a Course

Booking Rules Overview

- The restrictions on courses and sections that control registration access are known as Booking Rules.
- Authorized personnel maintain Booking Rules via the myUK portal.
- Restrictions may be maintained at the course level or the section level.
  - Course Level Restriction – If a restriction is maintained at the course level, all sections of the course will inherit the restriction.
  - Section Level Restriction – If a restriction is maintained at the section level, the restriction will apply only to the selected section of the course.

Rule Types Overview

- There are three types of Booking Rules that can be maintained via the myUK portal.
- Classification Restrictions
  - They can be used to restrict registration by including or excluding students, according to their progression classification.
  - They can be maintained for a single progression classification or multiple classifications.
- Major/Minor Restrictions
  - They can be used to restrict registration by including or excluding students, based upon their majors or minors.
- College Restrictions
  - They can be used to restrict registration by including or excluding students, based upon their college.

Rule Types Overview

- Course level and section level restrictions of the same rule type cannot be mixed.
- Instead, such restriction situations must be maintained at the section level.
- The three Rule Types (Classification, Major/Minor, and College Restrictions) are term-specific.
- They do not automatically become available to future terms.
- All rules are linked to the system Object ID of the course or section.

Rule Types Overview

- If a new section is created for the current term in Event Planning, a new system Object ID is assigned (a new “Section 011”, for example, is created).
  - Any rules attached to the current sections (001 through 010) will not be inherited by the new section, so rules must be added and maintained on the new section.
  - Any rules attached to the course will be inherited by the new section, so the rules can be added and maintained at the course level.
- If a new section is created for an upcoming term in Event Planning, a new system Object ID is assigned (a new “Section 001” is created).
  - Since rules are term-specific, any rules attached to the previous term’s Section 001 will not carry forward to the new one.
  - Rules must be added and maintained on the new sections or at the course level.

Displaying Specific Section Linked Rules

- If there are rules maintained on the section, they will be displayed below the Course and Section
